

The Alaska Pipeline Project Open Season Starts Today

The Alaska Pipeline Project has commenced simultaneous open seasons in Canada and the United States. Through July 30, natural gas shippers can evaluate detailed plans for the project and reserve capacity in the pipeline.

The Alaska Pipeline Project offers unique advantages for shippers, including a right of way in the Yukon Territory that has already been granted and a dedicated regulatory authority under the Northern Pipeline Act to ensure timely and appropriate oversight.

For more information, visit the open season section of our website.

www.TheAlaskaPipelineProject.com/open_season

ALASKA
PipelineProject

 TransCanada  ExxonMobil